M Numb. 317

The Daily Courant.

Fryday, April 23. 1703.

From the Paris Gazette, dated April 21.

Warſaw, March 24.

MR. Robinſon the Engliſh Envoy, who went to wait on the King of Sweden, return'd hither on the 22d. We are inform'd, that in the interview which paſs'd between them in the Field on Horſeback, his Majeſty deferr'd giving him Audience till his arrival in this City; and that the Inſtances made by that Miniſter to obtain Audience of him in his Camp laſted ſo long, that the King who had his Hat off all the while, catch'd ſuch a Cold, that he was oblig'd to keep his Bed and be let blood. He is recover'd of it now; but yet this Indiſpoſition has retarded his Arrival in this City. His Army is divided into ſeveral Bodies, of which that commanded by General Rinſchild continues in the Neighbourhood of this City. They write from Ruſſia, that the Heer Patkul who was ſent by the King of Poland to Moſcow, is kill'd in Moldavia; and the Heer Heyns Envoy from the King of Denmark to the Czar, being in company with him, 'tis fear'd the like Misfortune is befallen him.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated April 26.

They write from Genoa of the 2d inſtant, That the Duke de Turſis had ſent order to the Captains of his Squadron of Galleys which is in that Port, to hold themſelves in a readineſs to joyn the Galleys of France which are to act this Campaign in the Mediterranean. That a French Veſſel had landed at St. Remo 300 more Recruits, and another 400 at Alaſſio, for the Army of the Duke de Vendome; and that according to the laſt Advices from Toulon, they are hard at work to fit out the Fleet which is to be commanded by the Count de Toulouze, and which they tell us is to be compos'd of 20 great Ships of War, 12 Frigates, and 20 Galleys, beſides thoſe of Spain.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated April 26.

Rome, April 7. On Sunday the 1ſt inſtant, the Pope held a Chappel in the Vatican, and diſtributed the Palm Branches as uſual. On the 5th, being Holy Thurſday, he heard Maſs in the Cathedral of St. Peter, and carried the Hoſt in Proceſſion from the Chappel of Sixtus to that call'd the Capella Paulina, accompanied by the Sacred College and ſeveral other Prelates. Then going to his Apartment in the Vatican, he caus'd the Bull in Cæna Domini to be read, and himſelf pronounc'd the uſual Excommunication againſt thoſe who are not of his own Religion, and gave his Benediction to the People. After which his Holineſs waſh'd the Feet of 12 poor Prieſts who repreſented the 12 Apoſtles, ſerv'd them at Table half an hour, and gave each of them a Silver Medal. They write from the Abruzzo, That on Sunday laſt they felt an Earthquake which did ſome Damage at Rieti and other Places. A Gentleman from the Prince of Darmſtadt is arriv'd here, with Letters from his Imperial Majeſty for Count Lamberg his Ambaſſador, ordering him to ſollicit the Pope to diſpoſe of 2 Canonſhips, one of Munſter and one of Hildeſheim, in Favour of the ſaid Prince of Darmſtadt.

Letters from Milan of the 11th adviſe, That a great Convoy of Proviſions was got ready there for the Army of France and Spain; that all the Infantry of that State had Orders to render themſelves at Cremona on the 10th, thoſe only excepted who are appointed to continue on the Adda to guard the Paſſes of that River. That 3 Peaſants of the Villages of Bordoſano, Brignano, and Cava, were hang'd for holding Intelligence with the Huſſars; and that it was reported the French had ſack'd the little Town of Carpi in the Breſcian, becauſe the Inhabitants had furniſh'd the Imperialiſts with Proviſions.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated April 26.

Venice, April 13. Signior Delfino is ſet out from hence for the Court of Vienna, whither he goes in Quality of Ambaſſador from this Republick. We learn from Conſtantinople that the Old Cham of Tartary is reeſtabliſh'd on his Throne, purſuant to the Grand Signior's Order; and that his Son finding he could not maintain himſelf in that Dignity and withſtand his Father's Reſtoration, is fled away. They write from Revere, which is the Head-Quarter of the Imperialiſts, that Count Staremberg cauſes the New Line which is begun for covering all his Quarters to be carried on with all Diligence: That the Germans and French who are canton'd on the Banks of the Secchia continue to cannonade each other, The French with Deſign (under cover of the Fire of their Cannon) to lay a Bridge over that River, and the Germans to ruine their Works and hinder them from Paſſing it. And that the Imperial Huſſars lately made an Excurſion as far as under the Canon of Caſtiglione, where they kill'd ſeveral Soldiers and took Priſoners divers Officers of that Garriſon. Theſe Letters add, that the Imperial Garriſon of Berſello have made a Sally towards Paviglio in the Parmeſan, and return'd with 40 Head of Cattle.

From the Harlem Courant, dated April 26.

Amſterdam, April 25. They write from Leghorne of the 6th Inſtant, that on the 5th the Zealand Caper call'd the Pearl, William Credo Commander, brought in a French Prize laden with Oyl and bound from Mytelene to Marſeilles. On the 1ſt Captain John Pyn ſail'd from hence for Smirna, who about Palermo took a Sicilian Bark laden with Corn, and carried her into Porto Ferraro. The beforemention'd Captain Credo did in his laſt Cruiſe oblige ſeveral Barks to run themſelves a-ſhore, and was chaced at different times by 4 French Men of War: He will ſhortly return to Zealand in Company with other Zealand Capers.

Letters from Smirna of the 2d Inſtant adviſe, that Louis Bontekoe, and John Lens, are arriv'd there, who among the Iſlands of the Archipelago took a French Ship laden with Oyl, and a Bark with Corn, and gave chaced to another Bark who ran her ſelf a-ſhore.

Weſtminſter, April 22. This Day the Parliament met according to their laſt Prorogation, and after the the Lords had heard Prayers, The moſt Noble John Duke of Buckingham and Normanby, was introduced into the Houſe of Peers, between His Grace Charles Duke of Richmond, and His Excellency James Duke of Ormond, all in their Robes, wearing their Collars of the Order, (by Sr. Henry St. George, Knight Clarenceux, officiating as Garter King of Arms,) in the uſual Form; Next the Right Honourable John Lord Granville, was likewiſe introduced, between the Lords La-Warr and Dartmouth; As was alſo the Right Honourable Heneage Lord Gernſey, and Francis Lord Conway, in like manner; who were ſeated in their reſpective Places: After which, the Commons being preſent, the Queen's Commiſſion under the Great Seal of England, directed to ſeveral Lords of Her Majeſty's moſt Honourable Privy-Council, was openly read, and in purſuance thereof the Lord Keeper further prorogued the Parliament to Tueſday the 22d of June next.
